

LOGIN TO COMMENT

Sort by Newest

Joseph Harrington 4 hours ago

Prison is meant to rehabilitate criminals, ya say? This is the same crook who was caught – on camera – cockily taking bribes from phony Arab sheiks in the infamous Abscam sting way back when. His famous line: "Money talks, BS walks." It's still used by the Biden family and lots of other politicians with their hands out in this country. So, one can only imagine what Myers has pulled off in the intervening years since Abscam.

Vote Republican... 15 hours ago

Sad irony is the democrats are working daily to destroy democracy.

Leinad 22 hours ago

Hmm, if I remember correctly, didn't Biden say something like they had created the largest voter fraud organization ever?

Paul Curtis 23 hours ago

3 years??? Should be life without

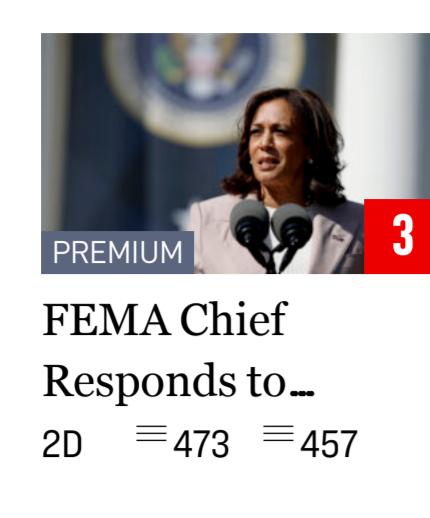

~~~!

5982

Friends Read Free

Copy

MOST READ

Experts Warn Homebuyers of Re...
1D 2579 371

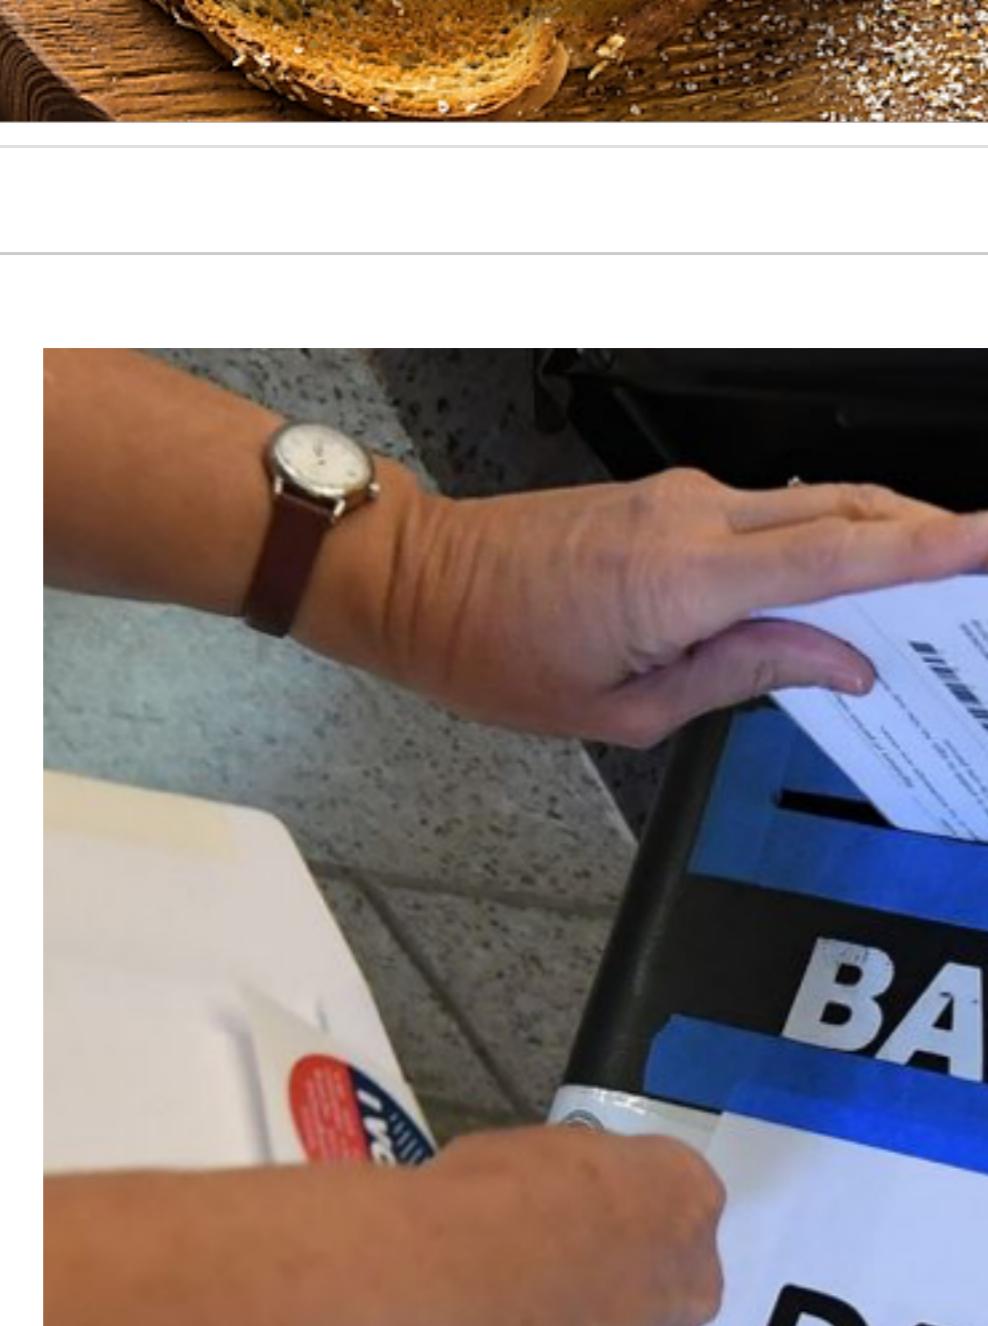

Obama's Brother Endorses...
1D 1946 432

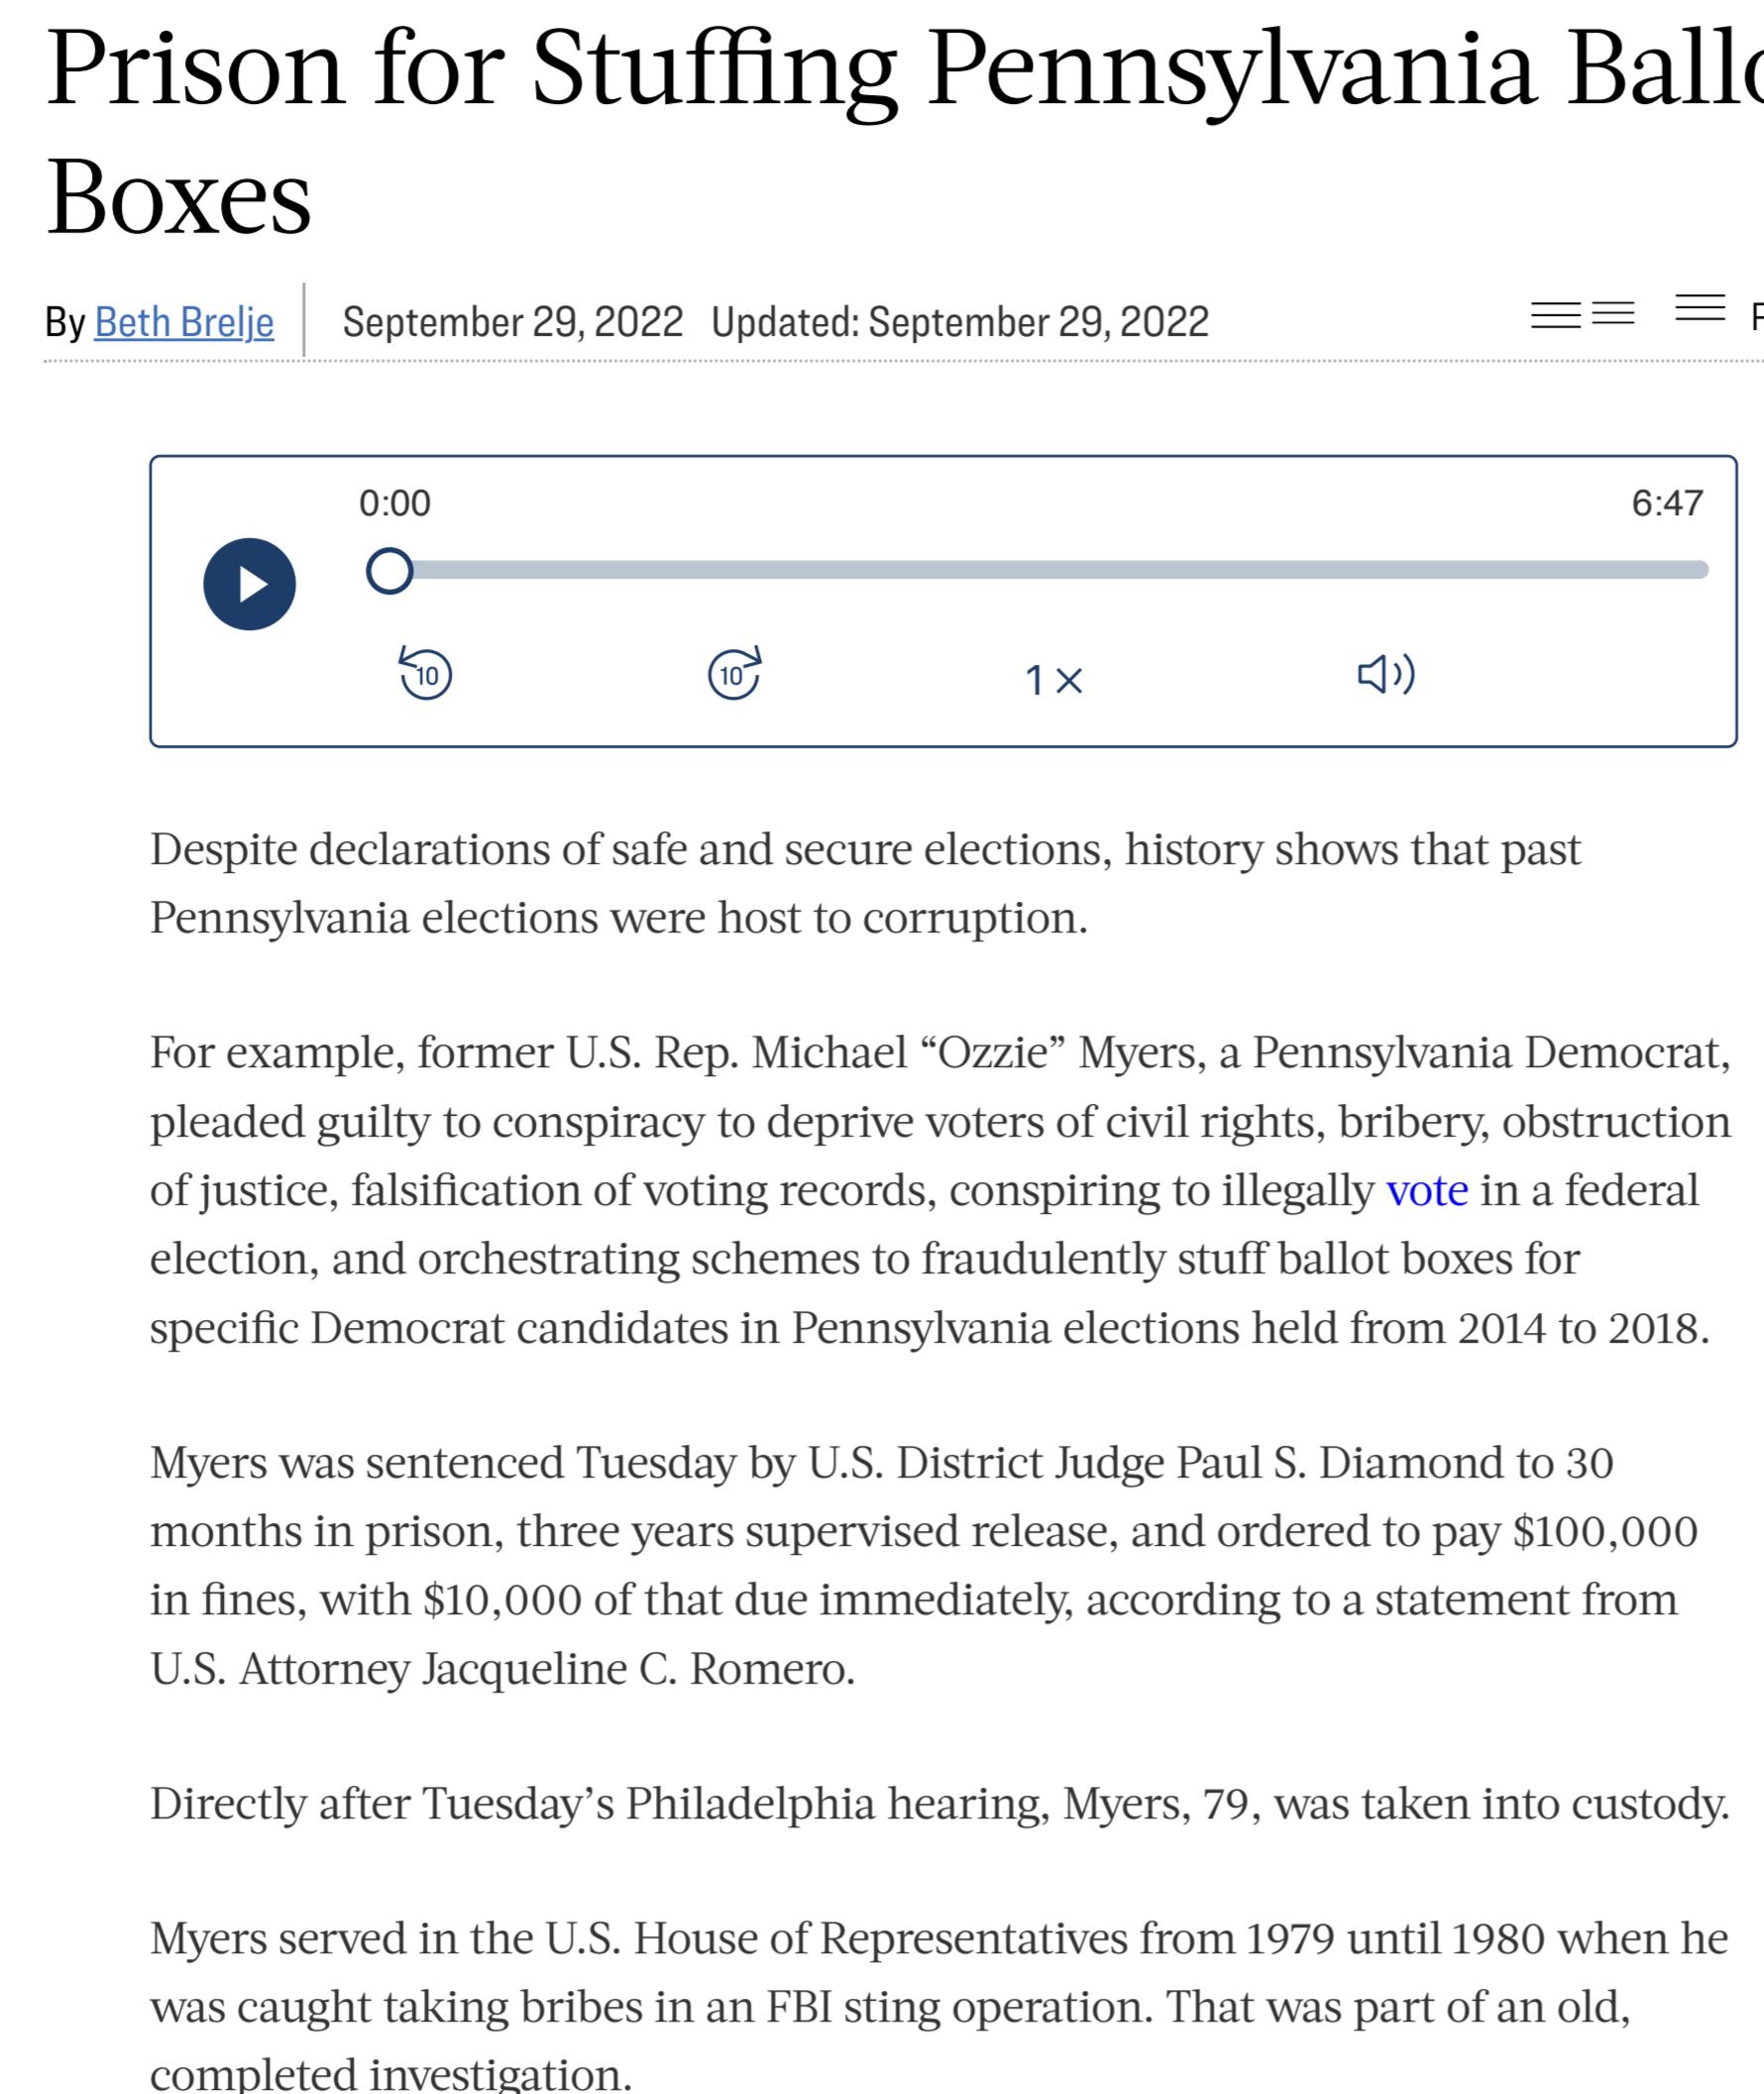

FEMA Chief Responds to...
2D 473 457

Read More &gt;

SPONSORED CONTENT
Do Not Eat Avocado Toast for [REDACTED] Here's Why

How To Clean Your Guts Every Day - Top

By Guthealthwellness

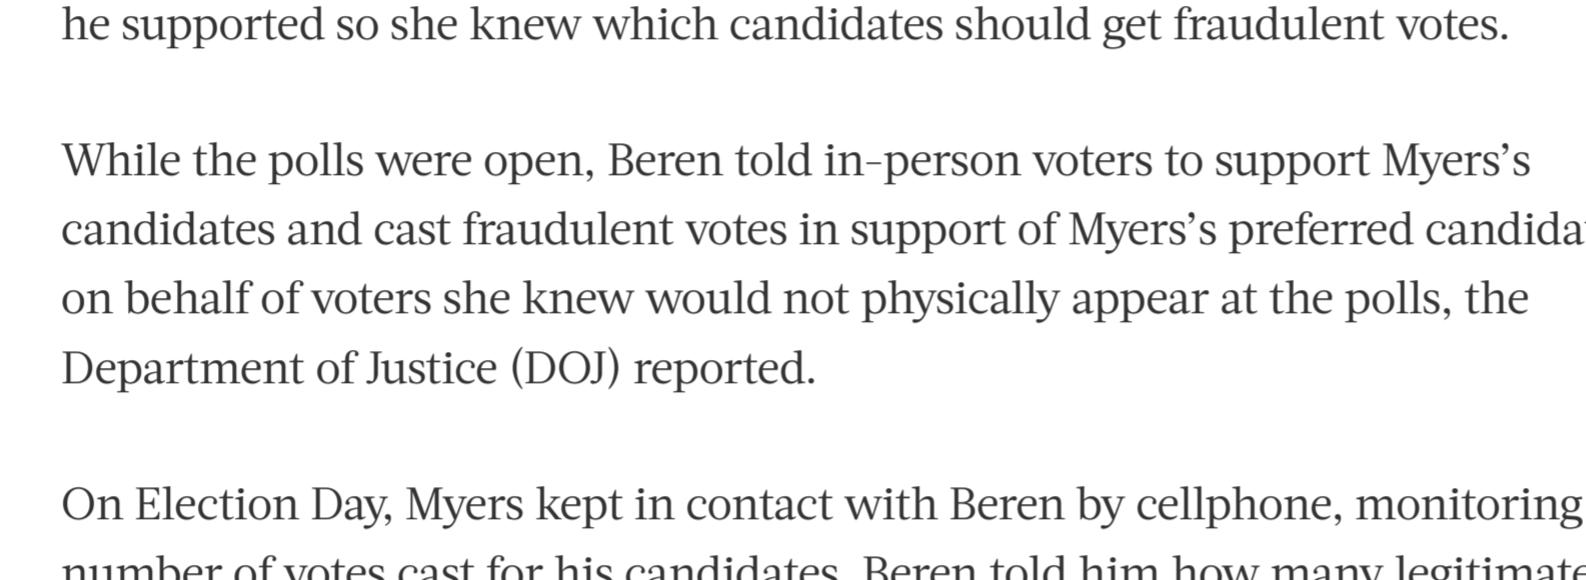

A voter places a ballot in a box during early voting for the midterm elections on Nov. 3, 2018.
(RALSTON/AFP/Getty Images)

PREMIUM CRIME AND INCIDENTS

Former Congressman Sentenced to Prison for Stuffing Pennsylvania Ballot Boxes

By Beth Brejle | September 29, 2022 Updated: September 29, 2022 Print

Despite declarations of safe and secure elections, history shows that past Pennsylvania elections were host to corruption.

For example, former U.S. Rep. Michael "Ozzie" Myers, a Pennsylvania Democrat, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to deprive voters of civil rights, bribery, obstruction of justice, falsification of voting records, conspiring to illegally vote in a federal election, and orchestrating schemes to fraudulently stuff ballot boxes for specific Democrat candidates in Pennsylvania elections held from 2014 to 2018.

Myers was sentenced Tuesday by U.S. District Judge Paul S. Diamond to 30 months in prison, three years supervised release, and ordered to pay $100,000 in fines, with $10,000 of that due immediately, according to a statement from U.S. Attorney Jacqueline C. Romero.

Directly after Tuesday's Philadelphia hearing, Myers, 79, was taken into custody.

Myers served in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1979 until 1980 when he was caught taking bribes in an FBI sting operation. That was part of an old, completed investigation.

Tuesday's sentencing was a new matter in which Myers admitted that he bribed Domenick J. Demuro, a Democrat Judge of Elections for the 39th Ward, 36th Division in South Philadelphia, over several years to add votes for certain Democrat candidates.

Some candidates' campaigns had hired Myers, and others were candidates that he favored. He admitted that he was paid consulting fees in cash or checks, then used portions of these funds to pay election officials to tamper with election results.

This included judicial seats and various federal, state, and local offices.

Myers also admitted to conspiring to commit election fraud with another former Judge of Elections, Democrat Marie Beren, in the 39th Ward, 2nd Division in South Philadelphia.

"Myers' accomplice was the de facto Judge of Elections and effectively ran the polling places in her division by installing close associates to serve as members of the Board of Elections," Romero's statement said. "Myers admitted that he gave his accomplice directions to add votes to candidates supported by him."

Beren and Demuro were charged separately and previously pleaded guilty.

How It Worked

Myers told the court that on most Election Days, he drove Beren to the polling station to open the polls. During the drive, Myers told Beren which candidates he supported so she knew which candidates should get fraudulent votes.

While the polls were open, Beren told in-person voters to support Myers's candidates and cast fraudulent votes in support of Myers's preferred candidates on behalf of voters she knew would not physically appear at the polls, the Department of Justice (DOJ) reported.

On Election Day, Myers kept in contact with Beren by cellphone, monitoring the number of votes cast for his candidates. Beren told him how many legitimate votes his candidates had. If voter turnout was high, Beren added fewer fraudulent votes. Sometimes Myers told Beren to shift her efforts from one preferred candidate to another if it looked like his top preferred candidate was comfortably ahead.

"Beren and her accomplices from the Board of Elections would then falsify the polling books and the List of Voters and Party Enrollment for the 39th Ward, 2nd Division, by recording the names, party affiliation, and order of appearances for voters who had not physically appeared at the polling station to cast his or her ballot in the election," a DOJ statement said. "Beren took pains to ensure that the number of ballots cast on the machines was a reflection of the number of voters signed into the polling books and the List of Voters. After the polls closed on Election Day, Beren and her associates would falsely certify the results."

Demuro was responsible for overseeing the entire election process and all voter activities in the 39th Ward, 36th Division in South Philadelphia.

The voting machines at each polling station, including in the 39th Ward, 36th Division, generate records in the form of a printed receipt documenting the use of each voting machine. This printed receipt, called the "results receipt," shows the vote totals, and the Judge of Elections and other Election Board officials at each polling place attest to the accuracy of the machine results.

Myers admitted to bribing Demuro to add votes for certain candidates.

After receiving payments ranging between $300 to $5,000 per election from Myers, Demuro added fraudulent votes on the voting machine—also known as "ringing up" votes—for Myers's clients and preferred candidates, thereby diluting the value of ballots cast by actual voters, according to the DOJ.

At Myers's direction, Demuro added these fraudulent votes to the totals during Election Day, and later falsely certified that the voting machine results were accurate.

No Stranger to Prison

In a 1980 FBI operation dubbed the ABSCAM Investigation, undercover FBI agents disguised themselves as businessmen and Arab sheiks and ultimately criminally charged seven members of Congress, alleging the politicians had accepted money from the phony sheiks, promising favors in return.

Myers was among those charged and was sentenced to three years in prison.

The FBI had videotapes showing the members accepting cash or stocks. In one, an agent handed Myers an envelope stuffed with hundred-dollar bills amounting to $50,000, saying, "Spend it well." Myers responded, "Pleasure," according to a report at the Library of Congress.

In response, the House ethics committee unanimously recommended expelling him.

Convinced of his innocence, Myers took his case to the House floor, where he pleaded, "When you push the 'yea' button on the voting machine, it will have the same effect as hitting the button on the electric chair."

Unmoved, the House voted 376–30 to expel him, the report said.

Myers was the first member to be expelled since the Civil War, and the first ever to be expelled for misconduct other than treason.

After leaving prison, he started a political consulting firm.

Beth Brejle
REPORTER

Follow

Beth Brejle is a national, investigative journalist covering politics, wrongdoing, and the stories of everyday people facing extraordinary circumstances. Send her your story ideas: Beth.brejle@epochtimes.us

Follow

Share

Also invite them to try The Epoch Times for unlimited access to the entire website

Don't remember your friend's email? click below to open your address book to add them in:

Google

Yahoo

Outlook

iCloud

From Around the Web

CompareCredit.com

Health Today News

Health Review

Best Trend Gifts

Smart Lifestyle Trends

Vitahealth

Top 10 Videos

Mike Lindell's FBI Phone Seizure Warrant Reveals Wh...

1165 164

Kash's Corner: FBI Whistleblower Goes Public;...

2018 262

The Plan to Block the Sun With Chemical Trails from...

2589 676

[Special]

Deception

4373

From Around the Web

newser.com

benzinga.com

newser.com

From Around the Web

realclearpolitics.com

Incoming Italian PM Meloni teaches French President Macron a lesson

americanthinker.com

benzinga.com

From Around the Web

newser.com

Elon Musk On Why First Moon Landing Was An 'Anomaly'

benzinga.com

newser.com

From Around the Web

Copyright © 2000 - 2022

